

Earn and Maintain PMP® or CAPM® Credential and More

UMT delivers “bundled study” to prepare individuals to take and pass the Project Management Professional® (PMP®) or Certified Associate in Project Management (CAPM®) credential exam offered by the Project Management Institute (PMI). Through in-depth “bundled study”, students also earn a Professional Certificate in Project Management at UMT. Our bundle brings together course study material covering the foundations of project management, access to PMI’s authorized certification prep course, PMI student membership, a free copy of PMI’s Guide to the Project Management Body of Knowledge (7th ed) and more.

UMT has delivered its PMP® foundation courses since 2000, continually revising them to align them with changing project management practice and theory. Roughly 5,000 students have studied for the exam with UMT. UMT has tracked performance on the exam of some 1,500 of these students – 97% passed the exam (including retakes).

UMT is uniquely positioned to deliver courses that prepare students to take and pass the PMP® or CAPM® exam. The courses are designed by UMT’s Dr. J. Davidson Frame, PhD, PMP, PMI Fellow, who served for six years as PMI’s Director of Certification, two years as its Director of Educational Services and nine years on PMI Board of Directors. UMT’s Dr. Yanping Chen, PhD, PMP and PMI Fellow, served six years on PMI Certification Governance Council (PMI CGC), six years on PMI Global Accreditation Center (PMI GAC), and six years on PMI Board of Directors. Beyond this, UMT’s four graduate degrees in project management demonstrate UMT’s unmatched depth of expertise in the online delivery of project management knowledge and skills (MBA Project Management, MSM Project Management, MSIT IT Project Management, MSM Acquisition Management).

Maintaining the PMP® or CAPM® Credential

PMI requires individuals who become PMP® or CAPM® certified to renew their certification every three years. They must demonstrate that during the three-year period they have actively maintained their project management knowledge and skills by taking authorized courses and that they have “given back” to the profession, e.g., through their project management work and by delivering presentations, authoring papers, etc. These efforts are measured using PDUs (Professional Development Units), where 1 PDU is a one-hour block of time. The specific PDU requirement for PMP renewal is 60 PDUs (35 for education, 25 for giving back) in a three-year period. For the CAPM®, it is 15 PDUs (9 for education, 6 for giving back). For details on the maintaining a credential, click <https://www.pmi.org/certifications/certification-resources/maintain/requirements>.

UMT's PM Suite® offers some 50 individual courses (15, 30 and 45 PDUs) covering a wide range of practical and useful subjects that enable project managers to continue their professional development and meet PMI's PDU requirements to maintain their certification status.
